Don't Panic STEM curriculum support Technology Teacher Professional Development

by Peter and Ruth Thompson

This is a NESA accredited course to learn Fusion 360 product development process in a single cloud-based platform that works on both Mac and PC. Using Fusion 360 you are able to create iterations of your design ideas, create assemblies and make photorealistic renderings and animations.

You can generate tool paths and use the 3D printing workflow to create a prototype direct from the software.

This software is free to students and teachers. Participants will leave the course able to model products suitable for high school technology and engineering subjects. They will be able to manage Fusion 360 in a school environment and develop resources for use in the classroom. Fusion is perfect for 3D printing and Laser cutting with an easy and reliable workflow.

The course assumes no knowledge and accelerates to a project where participants learn how Fusion can meet the needs of Project Based Learning in a practical and student relevant way. See the differences and similarities between Fusion360 and OnShape. Digital Technologies outcomes will also be covered in this course.
